

CompoSecure Chief Product & Innovation Officer Named NJBIZ Digi-Tech Innovator Award Honoree

April 21, 2022

Adam Lowe Recognized as a Digital Transformation Leader

SOMERSET, N.J.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Apr. 21, 2022-- CompoSecure, Inc. \(Nasdaq: CMPO\), a leading provider of premium financial payment cards and cryptocurrency and digital asset storage and security solutions, today announced Chief Product & Innovation Officer Adam Lowe has been recognized as a NJBIZ 2022 Digi-Tech Innovator Award Honoree.

"I am honored to be chosen by NJBIZ as one of the 2022 Digi-Tech Innovators of the year," said Lowe. "I want to share this award with the entire team who worked so hard to create our innovative, leading edge offerings."

As Chief Product & Innovation Officer of CompoSecure, Lowe heads up the Research and Development division. He is a well-known expert in blockchain, crypto and security technologies and has been published in a variety of peer reviewed journals, authored technical book chapters, and is listed as an inventor on over a two-hundred patents and patents pending. He holds a PhD from Cornell University and received his MBA from the Cornell Johnson Graduate School of Management.

In 2021, Lowe and his team created Arculus™, a digital asset and identity authentication technology platform, which CompoSecure believes is disrupting the cryptocurrency cold storage wallet market by making it simple, safe and secure to store, buy, swap, send and receive cryptocurrency. This security solution provides intuitive controls and a familiar payment card form factor to manage multiple cryptocurrency wallets in one easy-to-use solution.

The Digi-Tech Innovator Award event acknowledges innovators who have demonstrated excellence in technology and leadership. Winners also will be profiled in an event publication inserted in the April 11th issue of NJBIZ. These trailblazers represent a wide swath of industries including real estate, health care, public relations, technology and more.
